

MA 116: Office Communications

Credits 3

Includes integrated computer applications and development of professional written communication skills for use in the medical office, and principles of consumer relations.