

NATR 220: Introduction to Wildland Fire Ecology

Credits 3

An overview of wildfire with an emphasis on local natural environments. Wildfire is presented in a historical and ecological context, and as physical force and agent for ecological change. Covers land management and social policy issues.